The channel is alive with yachts and other craft. A steamer specially chartered, accompanied by Boyton, waited at 2 o'clock this afternoon he was proceeding safely on his voyage, apparently but little fatigued, and rapidly approaching the French coast. The Wheat Prospects.

CHICAGO, April 10.—The Times publishes telegraphic reports from numerous prominent points in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan and Minnesota, from which it appears that the fall wheat was badly winter-killed in many places, and less spring wheat is being sown than usual in consequence of the lateness of the season. The average of wheat seems to be very low, though by averaging the different States during the season it seems that the production may not fall below that of last year.

Indiana and Wisconsin promise the best for winter wheat, while Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa do not report favorably. The grasshoppers are feared in Minnesota and the chinch bugs in Missouri and Kansas. There is a disposition in all the wheat growing localities to rush in as much spring wheat as possible, and with favorable weather the prospects will undoubtedly brighten.
